OVERVIEW: PROS AND CONS

THE POSITIVES:

- Social media creates a space for users with common interests to connect with one another.
- Social media provides users with the opportunity to connect with friends and family worldwide via email, text, FaceTime and more.
- It has encouraged innovation in the real world through the introduction of online learning, resources for job skill growth and content discovery that would have not been possible without the internet.
- Overall, 59% of students with access to the internet report that they use social networking sites to discuss educational topics, including career and college planning. Many students also use social media to connect with peers on school assignments.
- Social media allows for the diffusion of real-time posting and information during times of crisis. This has saved lives and connected others during emergency events such as earthquakes, hurricanes, forest fires, tsunamis and civil unrest.
- Social media has created an avenue for public awareness around social justice issues. Over time, younger generations have organized numerous campaigns that call their peers to pressure governments and businesses for change.

THE NEGATIVES:

- Social media users spend a vast amount of time on social media websites and applications. Adolescents (ages 8 to 18) are amongst those who spend between six and nine hours a day on social media.
- Many often use social media in replacement of in-person socializing, allowing the opportunity for interactions and friendships to stem with strangers.
- An excessive use of social media can lead to cyberbullying, social anxiety, depression and exposure to content that is not age appropriate.
- Social media can be harmful to a user’s self-esteem and mental health. Studies show many users, especially adolescents, turn to social media for validation and comparison to others, which may lead to anxiety, depression and body image concerns.
- Studies show 43% of children have had a cyberbullying encounter online. Roughly four-in-10 Americans have experienced online harassment.
- Over the recent years, politics has played a role in the rise of online harassment amongst U.S. adults. Many adults who recently faced online harassment cited politics as the reason they believe they were targeted.
PLATформS:
INSTAGRAM

GETTING STARTED: (Click here)

Instagram is a photo and video-sharing platform owned by Facebook. In recent years, it has started to shift to video-based content through Instagram Reels and livestreaming. To create an account, users can sign up with an email address or an existing Facebook account. Make sure the username and profile photo clearly displays who you are.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR POSTING:

Instagram allows users to post up to 10 photos or videos at once. Users can choose from various filters to easily edit photos or videos. When writing a caption, get creative and use words, emojis or hashtags. To increase reach, users can tag or mention friends within the caption or use geolocation tags, if applicable.

INSTAGRAM STORIES:

Instagram Stories are photos or videos that only remain on an account for 24 hours. Stories boast all kinds of creative elements, including animated stickers, polls and quizzes, music and song lyrics, links to donation funds and charities, and more!

QUICK FACTS

DEMOGRAPHICS

- Most Instagram users are under 30 years old
- Four-in-ten U.S. adults use Instagram, compared to seven-in-ten U.S. users ages 18 to 29
- 76% of young adults (ages 18 to 24) use Instagram

AUDIENCE

- Despite Instagram’s age guidelines, children ages 11 and under still use the platform in relatively small shares
- Instagram totals more than 1 billion monthly users

- IGTV is Instagram’s long-form video platform for videos up to 15 minutes in length (or 60 minutes if you use the desktop version)
- Instagram Reels lets you record and upload short videos up to 15 seconds long

TIP #1

Drop the words! Think of ways to tell a story via photos and videos.

TIP #2

Link in Bio? Create a free Linktr.ee page to share multiple links.

TIP #3

Develop a recognizable brand by using the same colors, fonts and filters to maintain a cohesive style.
PLATFORMS:

TIKTOK

GETTING STARTED:  (Click here)

TikTok is a video sharing platform where users can create, share and discover videos ranging from 15 seconds to 10 minutes long. Create an account using an email, phone number or an account like Facebook.

HOW TO USE TIKTOK:

Users can watch TikToks through the app's two main feeds. The For You feed is an algorithmically generated stream of videos personalized to each user, while the Following feed shows content from accounts they follow. To post a TikTok, a user can record a video directly on the app or upload a video saved on their device. Users can also add filters and effects to take their video creations to the next level.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR POSTING:

Keep in mind the following two keywords: Music and #Challenges. Music defines TikTok. Be sure to browse the app's trending music and add a song or sound to your video. Additionally, for ideas on what to post, browse the trending #Challenges. These challenges are typically a hashtag and are sometimes sponsored by advertisers.

QUICK FACTS

DEMOGRAPHICS

- 55% of 18-to 29-year-olds use TikTok
- 70% of teens across the U.S. use the app, compared to 14% of users over the age of 50
- From a marketing perspective, advertisers mainly use the platform to target the 18-34 age group

AUDIENCE

- More than 1 billion active users (TikTok is one of the fastest growing brands)
- 18% of all internet users use TikTok
- 90% of users access the app daily

TIP #1

Like everything else, keep it short and simple!

TIP #2

Engage with others through likes, comments and shares

TIP #3

Use its unique tools like the Q+A, Stitch and Duet features

DEMOGRAPHICS

TikTok is now the seventh most popular social media platform in the world

AUDIENCE

More than 1 billion videos are viewed on the platform on a daily basis
GETTING STARTED:

Whether you are creating a personal profile or a public page, be sure to pick a profile and cover photo that best represents you. One of Facebook's biggest benefits is the amount of information it lets users share. Take advantage of the “About” section, post milestones on your page, and share photos and videos. Let your content tell your story.

CROSS-MARKETING:

If you are creating a Facebook page, add a “Follow” or “Share” button on your website to gain followers. You can also cross-promote by adding links to your Facebook page within the “Bio” section of any other social media accounts you own.

VISUALS MATTER:

Make sure to always add images such as photos or curated infographics when posting. Users are more attracted to visuals as opposed to simple text. When attending events, take photos and upload them to your feed, so your friends can follow along too.

QUICK FACTS

DEMOGRAPHICS

- Facebook is broadly popular among all demographics, but it is most widely used among adults
- About 69% of U.S. adults use Facebook
- 70% of U.S. adults visit Facebook daily

AUDIENCE

- Facebook remains one of the most widely used online platforms
- Nearly a third of Americans regularly get their news on Facebook
- Facebook boasts more than 2.8 billion monthly users worldwide

LIVE

- Facebook Live is an excellent way to maximize reach
- Facebook’s algorithm prioritizes live video by placing it at the top of the newsfeed and sending notifications to potentially interested users
PLATFORMS:

TWITTER

GETTING STARTED:  (Click here)

Twitter is a microblogging and social network that encourages users to “tweet” updates, photos, videos and links as they’re happening. Be sure to follow individuals, brands and media outlets of your choice to create a real-time stream of messages tailored to your interests.

TWEETING 101:

All tweets are limited to 280 characters, but it doesn't mean you should use them all. Keep your tweets short, clear and straight to the point for better engagement. When you find something interesting, you can “retweet” or forward another user's post to your followers by sharing it on your own page.

ENGAGEMENT RECOMMENDATIONS:

The main purpose of Twitter is to primarily interact with others. The platform's intent is to provide like-minded individuals with the opportunity to create discourse in the digital sphere. Amplify your presence by engaging with your followers through comments, likes and retweets.

QUICK FACTS

DEMOGRAPHICS

- 55% of young adults ages 18 to 24 use Twitter, compared to the minority of U.S. adults (23%) that use the site
- Users tend to be younger, have more education and higher incomes than U.S. adults overall

AUDIENCE

- About 70% of Twitter users get their news on the site
- Twitter is the social media site with the most news-focused users
- Most users don’t tweet often. A majority of tweets come from a small minority of users

- Invite followers and important stakeholders to engage in real-time conversations and questions
- LBUSD currently runs a weekly #proudtobelbusd Twitter chat
FOR STUDENTS:
SMART SOCIAL NETWORKING

Social media is a powerful tool that can be used to positively affect your life, education and future career. The following recommendations can help you use social media responsibly.

SOCIAL MEDIA TIPS

1. Social Media is Forever

Don't post or send anything you could regret in the future. When posting, think about what your family, future employers or college admission decision-makers might think if they see it. How would you feel if that statement or picture was forever tied to your name and your identity? Remember, your keyboard may have a “delete” button, but once it's online, it is often impossible to completely remove.

2. Start Early in Building a Positive Online Reputation

Don't wait until you are getting ready for college or applying for a job to start developing a digital dossier. Figure out the best ways to create and maintain an online identity that strongly demonstrates integrity and maturity. Review the LinkedIn Checklist on page 12 for tips on how to get started.

3. Use Caution When Venting or Complaining Online

People could negatively judge you based on your attitude, even if your complaint has merit. Especially when it comes to specific people or organizations, it's not worth the possible consequences. Don't forget that employers, schools and others have access to social media. Is that spiteful comment worth losing an opportunity? Be careful, too, about complaining in private environments or direct messages to others you think you can trust. You never know who might eventually see your posts.

4. Regularly Search for Yourself Online

Start with Google. If you find any of your personal information online, research how to delete it. Many sites provide an “opt-out” form which allows you to request its removal.

5. Be Considerate of Others When Posting and Interacting

If you message someone, and they do not respond, or if someone messages you and asks that you not post about them, listen to their request. Don't post pictures of others without their permission. If someone asks you to remove a photo, or untag them, do so immediately. It's what you would want if you asked someone the same.

6. Use Discretion

Be mindful of any photos or content that you post on your accounts. Your friends might think that picture of you holding a red solo cup (filled with lemonade) is hilarious, but how will your parents or a potential employer react? Also, keep in mind that when your friend takes your picture, it may end up on their profile for others to see.
FOR STUDENTS:
SAFETY TIPS

Use social networking websites safely and responsibly by following these recommended guidelines from the Cyberbullying Research Center.

SAFE AND RESPONSIBLE SOCIAL NETWORKING

- Be responsible: Never post your address, date of birth, phone number or other personal contact information. Always assume that everyone has access to your profile (parents, teachers, future employers and law enforcement) even if you have your profile restricted to “friends only.”

- Share what you are comfortable with: Don't put anything online you wouldn't want your worst enemy to know. Also, don’t add people as “friends” unless you know them in real life. Many think it is cool to have thousands of “friends.” Just remember that these people have open access to all of your posted content and information.

- Be mindful of predators: What information on your profile identifies who you are, where you hang out and where you live? Never post this kind of information anywhere online.

- Avoid using location services: When posting photos online, disable the location services. While it’s a cool feature, it's not necessary, and it can provide your location to anyone on the internet.
  - Don't share that you are on vacation or going on vacation until you are home. It may be fun to tell your friends what you are up to, but it also lets those with bad intentions know when your home is empty and vulnerable.

- There are consequences: You may be held responsible for inappropriate content on your profile that is in violation of the Terms of Service or Acceptable Use Policies of the Internet Service Provider or website(s) you use.

- Protect your passwords: Never give your password to anyone. Use complex passwords with numbers and special characters, or make your own acronym from a phrase that means something to you. Example: May the force be with you!!! (MtFbWu!!!)

FOR STUDENTS: LINKEDIN CHECKLIST

BUILD A PROFESSIONAL PORTFOLIO ON SOCIAL MEDIA

According to research, only 9% of high school students use LinkedIn. Follow the checklist below to create a strong LinkedIn profile and stand out from other high school students.

PROFILE PHOTO: Don’t use one from your other social media accounts. Dress in professional or business attire, stand in front of a plain background, look at the camera and smile! You can use your cell phone camera, but have someone take the photo and frame it from the top of your shoulders and up.

HEADLINE: This is the line of text that appears under your name. In a couple of words, tell people what your career goal is or what you plan to study. The key is to make it informative and catchy. Ex: Gadget Lover and Aspiring Engineer

ABOUT: Describe who you are, what you do and what your future goals are, but do so in a way that shows your personality as well. Although you’re young, briefly mention the experiences you already have from extracurriculars, leadership positions or volunteer work.

EXPERIENCE, EDUCATION, HONORS/AWARDS, PROJECTS, COURSES, SKILLS:

- Under Experience, list any jobs (and/or volunteer positions) you’ve held and briefly explain your responsibilities, what you accomplished and what you learned. Remember that many view volunteer experience as just as valuable as paid work.

- Under Education, start with high school and list any other educational experiences you’ve had, including summer programs.

- Be sure to highlight any special recognitions or awards you earned in or out of school under the Honors/Awards section. Don’t be shy!

- Have you participated in any projects that demonstrate your leadership skills? List these experiences under the Projects section.

- Under Courses, list any classes you’ve taken either in or outside of school that are most relevant to your future career or will help you stand out from competition.

- Under Skills, you can list up to 50 items. Focus on adding skills relevant to your future career, or if you are undecided, include skills you are proficient with. Some examples are programming experience (Adobe Photoshop, JavaScript, HTML) or languages you know.

- Have you participated in any clubs, teams or groups? List them under Organizations with a brief description of the role you played.

TIP: This section may feel overwhelming, but remember, it’s not necessary to complete every section. Fill out as many areas that apply to your experience. Read more at university.linkedin.com.

RECOMMENDATIONS: Ask managers, teachers or classmates who’ve worked with you to write a recommendation. This gives extra credibility to your strengths and skills.
SOCIAL MEDIA CONSEQUENCES AT LBUSD

All students have a right to a safe, supportive and healthy school environment free from bullying and harassment. Bullying can include instances of cyberbullying that take place over digital devices such as cell phones, computers and tablets. LBUSD is committed to promoting mutual respect, tolerance and acceptance within our school system by implementing bullying prevention procedures that encourage students to be kind, respectful and supportive with one another.

- Cyberbullying can occur through emailing, texting or messaging online through social media, forums or gaming where people can view, participate in or share content.

- Cyberbullying includes sending, posting or sharing negative, harmful, false or mean content about someone else.

- Cyberbullying can include sharing personal or private information about someone else causing embarrassment or humiliation.

Students who engage in bullying/cyberbullying on campus, traveling to or from school, at school activities or in a manner otherwise related to school attendance may be subject to disciplinary procedures. A student may be subject to disciplinary action for off-campus expressions (including via electronic means), when such expressions are obscene, libelous or slanderous, or when such expression poses a threat to the safety of other students, staff or school property, or disrupts the educational program.

Education Codes 32261(f) (g), 48900, 48900.2, 48900.3, 48900.4, 48910, 48911, 48915, 48915.5, 48918, 48918.5

This document contains more information on behavior expectations, as well as definitions and consequences for:

- Cyberbullying
- Credible Impersonation
- Creating a false profile (aka "Catfishing")
- Cyber sexual bullying
FOR PARENTS: SAFETY TIPS

This list contains common social media and internet safety topics that every parent and family member should understand to support their children's online safety.

COMMON SOCIAL MEDIA "RED FLAGS"

- Anonymity can be easily achieved on social media through websites like Lipsi, LMK: Anonymous Polls, Tellonym, Yolo, or “AMA” accounts, which encourage “Ask Me Anything” questions from anyone on the internet. On anonymous sites, users feel their comments are consequence-free, which may end up hurting others. Make sure your teen understands the risks involved with using anonymity websites. It's also important to ensure they know how to block and report other users. If they are seeking a connection, and it’s hard to talk about a problem (especially with you), give them opportunities to share with other safe, trusted people.

- Cyberbullying is still a reality despite the efforts from many social media apps to combat bullying through improved monitoring and reporting features. For example, “tea” accounts, or gossip accounts, are becoming increasingly prevalent for sharing gossip and harassing students online. Make sure your child understands how to report and block other users, and review our LBUSD policy about cyberbullying.

- “Catfishing” is the term used for a person who poses online as someone else in order to manipulate victims. Teens are especially susceptible to catfishing because they often “friend” people they don’t know or share too much personal information online. Talk with your student and let them know random chatting apps are unsafe. If they are truly trying to meet new friends, it might be best to start on an app that's interest-based with text-based group forums.

- Location tracking and sharing is commonly used on social media apps and could be accessed by strangers. Turn off location settings on your child’s social media accounts and check to see whether previous posts include location information. Many parents like to keep track of their young ones using an app like Life360. In such instances, you can keep location services on for only those apps.

- Secret chat rooms, or private chats, may allow for unrestricted conversations, sexual content or hate speech. Some app examples are Discord and IMVU. However, sometimes adolescents create a private chat room with friends to safeguard against strangers. In general, adolescents should be very cautious about joining chat rooms and be on the alert for predatory behavior.
